

Minnesota Has "Little" Timber Left.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—Despite the general belief that timber days are past and gone in Minnesota, there still is a little matter of ten million acres of merchantable timber still standing in the state, the department of forestry said today.

BANKERS WOULD AID FARMERS

A. J. Meyer in Conference of State Association at K. C.

A. J. Meyer, secretary of the agricultural extension service at the University, returned Thursday from Kansas City, where he attended a meeting of the agricultural committee of the State Bankers' Association. Secretary Jewell Mayes of the State Board of Agriculture and E. G. Bennett, state dairy commissioner, also attended the meeting.

The purpose of the conference was to decide what co-operation might be given in an organized way through the State Bankers' Association, represented by their agricultural committee, the College of Agriculture and the State Board of Agriculture.

In a general way it was decided to continue the plan of co-operation which has been followed for more than a year. This plan provides that in the various counties of the state a bankers committee shall be appointed to lend what encouragement it can in helping to organize the farmers into community clubs with the thought that if the clubs are organized the College of Agriculture and State Board of Agriculture will carry their various extension activities into the field through the clubs.

This plan does not add anything to the work the college is doing, because the agricultural extension service is making a regular business of organizing farmers clubs, but it simply brings this outside agency in to help the college, Mr. Meyer said.

"As a rule, the bankers of the state have the confidence of the farmers and for this reason the bankers can, if they will, perform a large service and be much more effective than any other county agency. This is particularly significant at this time, when there is more or less restlessness and partial distrust between the town and country. If there is any group of men in position to breach the widening gap between merchant and farmer it is undoubtedly the banker."

PENNSYLVANIA ZOOLOGIST QUILTS

Dr. H. A. Surface, After 13 Years of Service, Resigns.

By United Press.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16.—Having weathered four investigations of the affairs of office, since he took it in 1903 and stuck tight to it, Dr. H. A. Surface, Pennsylvania's State Economic Zoologist, gave up the fight today and stepped out. Dr. Surface was succeeded by J. G. Sanders, formerly head of the same bureau for the state of Wisconsin. Dr. Surface was asked to resign by the Agricultural Commission. Governor Brumbaugh declined to interfere and the board made no explanatory statement.

One probe of this office was public, but the other three were private. He weathered all of them but decided he would not put up a fifth fight to retain his office.

TO PLAN WATERWAY SYSTEM

Atlantic Convention Would Connect All Eastern Cities.

By United Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—The plan for a system of inland waterways to insure the transportation of freight and passengers in the eastern part of the United States in case of a general railroad strike will be considered by the annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention that opened here today.

An inland waterways system connecting all navigable rivers, lakes and canals, delegates pointed out, would serve the dual purpose of rendezvous for the navy in time of war and of a means of transportation during labor troubles.
